Highly effective in treating common eye infections in Animals

INDICATION

Eye problems in feedlot cattle are caused by a bacterial infection (pinkeye), IBR virus infections, or foreign bodies such as dust or chaff.

Virtually all of the eye problems commonly encountered in feedlot cattle initiate as a form of 'conjunctivitis' which is simply an inflammation of the soft tissues surrounding the eye and eyelids.

Cattle affected with conjunctivitis will have reddening of the eyeball and swelling of the inner lining of the eyelid. These animals will have an increased sensitivity to sunlight which is demonstrated by 'squinting' or closing their eyes in bright sunlight. There will usually be a discharge from the eye as well.

Conjunctivitis can be a very painful and debilitating disease which causes reduced growth rates.

Clear Lax is unique active response aerosol for Pink eye relief. This natural formula stimulates eye's natural ability to relieve the redness, watery discharge & burning associated with viral and environmental conjunctivitis.
